Hello, I want to start this video by congratulating you on your decision to start living a healthier and more productive life and personally thanking you for making the THINNER Weight Loss protocol part of this journey. Before we get into the specifics of how to perform the THINNER Weight Loss protocol, it is important for you to know that you will need a digital food scale and a digital weight scale. If you do not have either of these items, pause this video, go to Amazon, and place an order that can be delivered tomorrow. You will need a digital food scale because you will be measuring the amount of food that you will be eating at each meal as the THINNER protocol utilizes very specific combinations and blends of THINNER-approved low glycemic index, anti-inflammatory foods. You will need a digital weight scale because you will be weighing yourself daily and entering that information in the THINNER app.

Let's get into how to follow the THINNER Weight Loss protocol by starting with how you will administer the all-natural THINNER Protocol medication. You begin taking the all-natural THINNER medication on Day 1 and will continue taking it at the same dose through Day 39. The THINNER medication is taken sublingually, which means that they are taken under the tongue. You will take 1 milliliter 3 times per day, ideally 7 hours apart from each other. For most people, taking the THINNER formulation at 8:00 am, 3:00 pm, and 10:00 pm is convenient. You will draw up enough liquid so that the level is at the 1-milliliter mark on the dropper and then squirt it under your tongue. For maximum absorption, avoid eating and drinking for 5 minutes before taking the drops. Once the formulation has been placed under your tongue, you will hold it there for 1 minute and then swallow it. As previously mentioned, you will take 1 milliliter three times per day, seven hours apart — the recommended times at 8:00 am, 3:00 pm, and 10:00 pm. However, the critical component is that it be taken seven hours apart. You never want to skip taking the drops. If you miss taking a dose, do not skip it. Take it as soon as you realize that you forgot to take it.

The THINNER Weight Loss protocol consists of 4 unique phases. Phase 1 is called the THINNER Metabolic Activation Phase. Phase 2 is called the THINNER Metabolic Thinning Phase. Phase 3 is called the THINNER Metabolic Transition phase, and Phase 4 is called the THINNER Metabolic Normalization phase.

The THINNER Metabolic Activation Phase is performed on days one and two. Once again, and as previously mentioned, the dose you will be taking is 1 milliliter, three times per day under the tongue. During this phase, you'll consume at least 4,000 or more calories per day and eat continuously throughout the day rather than having structured meals. Minimally, you should target eating at least 4 times spread evenly across your waking hours on both days. You should set a target so that 60 to 70% of your calories come from higher-fat protein sources. This helps minimize bloating and make it easier to meet your target. If you're diabetic, focus on high-fat proteins, and if you've had gallbladder issues or your gallbladder removed, prioritize higher-calorie carbohydrates. You will also start drinking between 80 and 120 ounces of water each day spread evenly across your waking hours.

Following these guidelines is important as one of the fastest ways to minimize your weight loss is not consuming enough calories, not eating frequently enough, or a combination of both.

Now, let's jump into the THINNER Metabolic Thinning Phase or Phase 2. This phase begins on day 3 and goes through day 39. The THINNER formulation dosage will remain the same, which is 1 milliliter three times per day, seven hours apart. The recommended times are 8:00 am, 3:00 pm, and 10:00 pm. You will also continue drinking between 80 and 120 ounces of water daily, spread evenly across your waking hours.

Day 3 is also when you transition to and begin following the THINNER Nutrition strategy, which consists of very specific THINNER-approved foods in specific amounts. This is why you need the food scale. During this phase, it is critical that you eat the amounts of each item as allowed by the protocol. Do not skip meals or shift food between meals. Do not add fat, sugar, or anything containing extra calories to anything you eat unless it is specifically called for in a Thinnr Nutrition Strategy Approved recipe. It is also important to note that water is water, and while other 0 calorie beverages are allowed, they do not count towards your daily water consumption. Now, let's take a deeper look at the THINNER Nutrition strategy and explain it in a way that is super easy to understand. During the Metabolic Thinning phase, you'll be eating two meals per day... lunch and dinner. While on the THINNER Protocol, you will not eat breakfast. However, coffee, water, and iced tea are fine. Do not add sugar or fat to your morning beverage. If you typically add cream to your coffee, use no-calorie creamer. If you typically add sugar or sweetener to your coffee or tea, we recommend using Stevia or another 0 calorie sweetener. As previously mentioned, you will be eating lunch and dinner. Each meal will be composed of around 1 pound of nutrient-dense foods that you will select from the THINNER-approved food lists or the THINNER-approved recipes, which are located in both the THINNER manual and the THINNER app.

It is best to avoid eating the same foods over and over. If you eat steak, asparagus, and mixed berries at dinner, try to avoid eating it again for lunch the next day. Only water counts toward your 80-120 ounces of daily water intake. Other zero-calorie beverages, such as diet soda, coffee, and tea do not count as water. Also, keep in mind that the THINNER Nutrition Strategy is not designed to consist of bland and boring foods. Feel free to add any 0-calories seasoning and or sauces to any of the foods you consume. THINNER-approved "free foods", which are listed in both the THINNER Manual and in the THINNER app can be added in nearly unlimited quantities but ONLY at meal time. A few examples include lettuce, celery, cucumbers, peppers, pickles, and cabbage. Just make sure that they are 0-calorie. So, by now, you're probably wondering just how much food you can eat, so let's cover it. At each meal, you will be eating around 1 pound of food. You will eat 5 to 6 ounces of THINNER-approved lean protein, 5 to 6 ounces of THINNER-approved complex carbohydrates/vegetables, and 5 to 6 ounces of THINNER-approved fruit. Once again, the complete list of THINNER-approved foods and THINNER-approved recipes is in both the THINNER manual and the THINNER app.

After day 39, you will move to the THINNER Metabolic Transition phase. During this phase, During this phase, you'll discontinue the THINNER medication while continuing to follow the THINNER eating program through days 40 to 42.

Starting on day 43, you'll begin the Normalization Phase. This phase helps stabilize your new BMI and BMR. You'll gradually increase your food intake to more traditional amounts and can reintroduce breakfast if you choose to discontinue intermittent fasting.
During this phase, you'll continue consuming low glycemic index, anti-inflammatory foods but in larger quantities. Detailed Metabolic Normalization phase guidelines are provided in the THINNER instruction manual and the THINNER app. If you haven't reached your weight loss goal and plan to complete another round of THINNER, this phase will act as a "cycling phase." You'll follow the same guidelines, and once your weight stabilizes within 0.5 pounds over 5 to 7 days—typically within 4 to 5 weeks—you'll be ready to start your next round of THINNER. By following each phase as outlined, you'll be on track to achieve and maintain your weight loss goals effectively.

Now let's take a look at what we like to refer to as "THINNER SUCCESS SECRETS". These secrets are tips and tricks we have learned to help the average THINNER patient obtain maximum results. Let's get started.

1) You can have any calorie-free food in nearly unlimited quantities but ONLY with your meals. This includes seasonings and sauces and water-based vegetables such as such as lettuce, celery, cucumber, cabbage, peppers, pickles, etc. Just remember... they have to be 0 calories. There is a comprehensive listing of these items in both the THINNER manual and the THINNER app.
2) If you want something sweet, we recommend flavored, no calorie water.
3) If you use a marinade while cooking, make sure you rinse the marinade off prior to cooking.
4) With THINNER, you do not need to exercise while on the protocol. However, when moving into the THINNER Metabolic Normalization phase, we encourage exercise.

5) Can't live without exercise? No problem. During the THINNER Protocol you can do light to moderate walking for 20 minutes each day or do yoga for 20 minutes per day.

If you have any additional questions, look it up in the THINNER manual or on the THINNER app. If you can't find the answer there, ask your THINNER healthcare professional.

Thank you and you got this! By following the THINNER protocol—taking the medication as instructed, measuring your foods accurately, and adhering to each phase's guidelines—you are setting yourself up for lasting success. Stay consistent, trust the process, and remember that the THINNER team and resources are here to support you every step of the way.
